A Backward Glance at the Fair.

You have heard tell of the boy who climbed a flag-pole and he got going so fast that he walked right over the top. We got going so fast on the wonderful things seen at our fair that we overfilled our columns and this is what we did not tell you about—

F. E. Stevens came down from Bethel and set up a booth on Wednesday where he sold gold wire, rods and worked your name on a piece of the metal while you waited. He did a big business for he is pretty well known throughout Oxford County. His place was next to the dairy exhibits.

Mrs. O. B. Upton and Mrs. E. L. Knightly, Norway, were the only ones to have an exhibit of honey, showing the article both in the comb and clarified.

A. J. Abbott, West Paris, agent for the output of the Vermont Machine Co., Bellows Falls, Vt., was with B. C. Brett of Auburn, at a booth on the lower floor and handed out literature concerning the United States cream separators and other agricultural implements. Those who have used the separators told Mr. Abbott and Mr. Brett that they were the best ever.

A display of asters grown by Rev. B. S. Rideout and of enormous size showed that if careful attention is given the plants the blooms will be superior to those hothouse grown. Mr. Rideout had a good many complimentary words said to him about his ability as a floriculturist.

One of the busy men at the grounds this year is Ralph Israel Trask, police headquarters reporter for the Worcester, Mass., Telegram, but who comes to Norway for great annual to greet his friends at the ticket window in the grand stand at the grounds. Ralph had his first newspaper work on the ADVERTISER, writing interesting doings of the Maine boys who went to the front during the war with Spain, ten years ago. He told then in graphic language how things were in the south and has used the same style of descriptive writing since joining the staff of the Telegram more than a year ago.

After he came back from the south Mr. Trask did considerable writing for the Boston newspapers and furnished other publications with dialect poetry. Probably his best piece of work in that line was the description of a woodman's cross-cut saw. Since joining the staff of the Telegram, Mr. Trask has written some of the biggest police stories in Worcester, and is regarded by Editor Cristy as a valuable man on the job. He arrived in Norway last Saturday and will return to Worcester this week.

Of course Col. A. M. Dunham, Norway's manufacturer of snowshoes and personal friend of Lieut. Com. Robert E. Peary, the Arctic explorer and all-around globe trotter, arrived on the grounds early Tuesday and at once got busy arranging his exhibit of snowshoes. For a centerpiece the Colonel used the skull of a walrus and a pair of now-hat's horns which Mr. Peary found one day while exploring the frozen north and wearing a pair of Mellie's footgear. The Colonel kept cool by wearing a suit of linen and the visitors ceased perspiring when they viewed his exhibit.

That Oxford County soil will produce something besides fruit and vegetables of the common or garden variety is demonstrated by a tobacco plant shown by W. H. Porter of Norway. The plant is almost six feet tall, an inch and a half in diameter at the base and tapering to a fine top capped with blossoms. Between the two extremes are green leaves enough to keep one in plug and fine out for many days, after going through the curing process. There were so many packages sent by the electric Wednesday that the cars lost the equal of two trips with four cars so that Thursday no packages were carried where it would be necessary for the conductors to leave the car to deliver them.

Over 200 tickets were sold Wednesday from Bethel, 300 from Locke's Mills and Bryant Pond, 250 from Lewiston and nearly 800 from Mechanic Falls. The sun was hot, the dust settled like unto the conditions in ancient Egypt according to Scripture, minus the grasshoppers, yet everybody felt happy and had a great time.

D. N. Grey of Newton Center, Mass., who is with J. F. Howland this summer, secured many good views of the races from the Judge's stand. He uses a high grade Graflex camera with expensive lenses so doing extra fine work. He is showing a sample of his work while at the State Fair, namely, The airship leaving the ground. The balloon high in the air with the aeronaut ready to take a triple parachute drop. Another good one showing the rapid lenses is a base ball game with the thrown ball mid-way between the batter and pitcher. Here even the stitches can be seen on the sphere. Another one is four horses on the home stretch. The spokes of the wheel appeared and one trotter has all her feet free from the ground.

Pencil Pusher Parker of the Lewiston Sun was a pretty active fellow during the fair. He was everywhere at once and got good copy for his paper.

Albert Copeland of Bethel, dealer in harvesting machinery was an interesting visitor Wednesday. He called this fair the "best ever."

Secretary J. L. Lowell of Auburn was here booming the State Fair for 1909. He says $12,000 will be offered in purses and premiums. He also adds that they have 500 stalls free to trainers besides summer cottages that can be rented. They guarantee to have the best track in New England ready for work May 20, 1909. The dates set for their next exhibition is Sept. 6, 7, 8, 9, 1909.

Alphonso Vandenberg of Bethel stole a day from his telephone business and took in the races Wednesday. He and assistant Daniel Smith also put in one day on the grounds.

Isaac Edwards had his hands full catering to popcorn eaters. Harry Bridge with a large corps of nimble assistants worked hard near the ball games and grand stand. They put out an honest article.

F. S. Chandler of Bethel was here during the three days. Being seventy-eight years old he seldom gets away from his home except to visit Oxford County's best. This is his eighteenth annual without a skip.

The sweepstakes drawing of cattle at the County fair were pulled with following results: Charles P. Ross, Norway, 6 feet, 10 inches; Moses Young, East Sumner, 11 feet, 10 inches; Moses Young, East Sumner, 124 feet, 10 inches; B. E. Glover, East Sumner, 135 feet, one inch; C. S. Hayes, Oxford, 194 feet, 11 inches. Winners: 1st Hayes; 2d Glover; 3d Young.

UPTON.

An Exciting Bear Hunt. An exciting bear hunt took place at Lakeside. During the dinner hour three bears were seen in a strip of woods between the open field and the lake. When the announcement was made several guides who were at dinner and others rushed to the scene.

Adams Clark shot one bear and the others taking to the water, Thomas Welch a summer resident and Fred Godwin and Merton Sargent guide, gave chase in a canoe. The old bear was killed before reaching mainland and the cub which they hoped to capture alive was killed in a trap in which the young bear savagely attacked the men and tried to enter the canoe.

Historic Forest Fires.

The terrible work of the flames which have burned over and destroyed hundreds of thousands of acres of timber and property the value of millions in the Lake States, recalls to memory other great forest fires which have attained historic importance.

One of the earliest of these was the great Miramichi fire of 1825. It began its great destruction about one o'clock in the afternoon of October 7 of that year, at a place about 60 miles above the town of Newcastle, on the Miramichi river, in New Brunswick. Before ten o'clock at night it was 20 miles below Newcastle. In nine hours it had destroyed a belt of forest 80 miles long and 25 miles wide. Over more than two and one-half million acres, almost every living thing was killed. Even the fish were afterwards found dead in heaps on the banks. Five hundred and ninety buildings, were burned, and a number of towns, including Newcastle, Chatham and Douglastown, were destroyed. One hundred and sixty persons perished and nearly a thousand head of stock. The loss from the Miramichi fire is estimated at $800,000, not including the value of the timber.

In the majority of such forest fires as this the destruction of the timber is a more serious loss, by far, than that of the cattle and buildings, for it carries with it the impoverishment of a whole region for tens or even hundreds of years afterwards. The loss of the stumpage value of the timber at the time of the fire is but a small part of the damage to the neighborhood. The wages that would have been earned in lumbering, added to the value of the produce that would have been purchased to supply the lumber camps, and the taxes that would have been devoted to roads and other public improvements, furnish a much truer measure of how much, sooner or later, it costs a region when its forests are destroyed by fire.

The Peshtigo fire of October, 1871, was still more severe than the Miramichi. It covered an area of more than 2,000 square miles in Wisconsin, and involved a loss in timber and other property, of many millions of dollars. Between 1,200 and 1,500 persons perished, including nearly half the population of Peshtigo, at the time a town of 2,000 inhabitants. Other fires of about the same time were most destructive in Michigan. A strip about 40 miles wide and 180 miles long, extending across the central part of the State, from Lake Michigan to Lake Huron, was devastated. The estimated loss in timber was about 4,000,000,000 feet board measure, and in money over $10,000,000. Several hundred persons perished.

In the early part of September, 1881, great fires covered more than 4,800 square miles in various parts of Michigan. The estimated loss, in property, in addition to many thousands acres of valuable timber, was more than $2,300,000. Over 5,000 persons were made destitute, and the number of lives lost is variously estimated at from 150 to 500.

The most destructive fire of more recent years was that which started near Hinkley, Minn., Sept. 1, 1894. While the area burned over was less than that of some of the great fires, the loss of life and property was very heavy. Hinkley and six other towns were destroyed; about 800 lives were lost, more than 2,000 persons were left destitute and the estimated loss in property of the kinds was over $10,000,000. Except for the heroic conduct of locomotive engineers and other railroad men the loss of life would have been much greater.

This fire was all the more deplorable, because it was wholly unnecessary. For many days before the high wind came and drove it into uncontrollable fury, it was burning slowly close to the town of Hinkley, and could have been put out.

Great Fall Weather.

Sun Overworking While Everyone Is Hoping for Rain.

"I haven't seen any record," said an old resident yesterday, "but I believe we have had more fair days this summer than ever before in the history of the State. As I remember it I have never seen anything like it before." Others who heard the remark agreed with it and the general opinion was that there has been less bad weather this year than ever before.

The dust on the country roads makes driving or automobile rather uncomfortable but the weather has been so fine most of those who were able to get out were willing to put up with the dust. The cottages at the ponds are still occupied as there have been no pleasant days during the whole season than late.

EAST STONHAM.

Summer folks are all gone. Autumn leaves are coming.

The Grand Chief of Pythian Sten-hood of Portland is expected to visit Minnehaha lodge, the 25th. Cake and coffee will be indulged in.

This place has been enveloped in smoke. We eat it for breakfast, dinner and supper, breathe it all night. For- ever over Durgin mountain has called out all the able bodied men. Our post-master, Charles Bartlett, lead off with quite a gallant crew of farmers, butchers, bakers, candlestick-makers, cracklers, cheese and coffee to fight the dreaded enemy, fire. I can't tell you the condition they came back in, but bath-tubs were necessary. It's a lamentable fact that our timber and woodland is being burnt over and our homes endangered by some persons who are anxious for blueberries next year, or careless ones with matches or guns, which ever it is. The law ought to find them out and punish accordingly.

A crew of men under a fire warden built back fires and dug trenches, succeeding in getting into a center and fairly well under control. It burned over ten or fifteen acres of young timber.

Talks on Art.

By Vivian Akers.
No. 1.

Recently in certain art magazines which are aiming to give people as a whole a better understanding and appre-ciation of the beautiful, a great many articles have been printed concerning the great international convention and exhibition of school art work in London. Representative work from twenty-five countries was exhibited and much to our regret American work fell far below the best examples.

There is no reason why we should ex-pect any great results, for art instruction in our public schools is of very recent origin, and I have no doubt many people in our own town doubt the practicability of teaching it at all. They in a way are not to blame for their prejudiced opin-ions for no one has attempted to show its value and what comes before them in current magazines is little of real prac-tical use.

So kind reader from time to time I will give you what few and incomplete suggestions I can, that if you are inclined to indulge yourself in a little reading you may find out for yourself the real value of drawing and art instruction for your children and perhaps you yourself may grow to see the real beauty of ordi-nary things in a different light.

Every citizen of the town gave this his attention and follows out what few things I may now and then suggest I am sure it will do much for all.

Saved from Fire.

Bethel village barely escaped a serious fire on Friday noon when with the wind blowing a gale, fire was discovered in the pasture lot of E. C. Bowler, below the Bethel chair factory. The house owned by the Bethel Manufacturing Co. was im-mediately attached to their hydrant and a large amount supplied by the Water Company, and it was only by prompt action that a serious fire was prevented. When the water was turned on the flames had reached within twenty feet of the large board piles in the rear of the chair factory, and but for the water from the chair factory hydrant the lumber and factory property, Mr. Bowler's house and other property in the immedi-ate vicinity could not have been saved.

SOUTH WATERFORD.
Maine Dairying.
The Waterford Dairy Testing Associa- tion at its recent September meeting wit- nessed a large attendance of its members and an increasing interest among the dairy women of the town. It was one of the very best meetings for the year thus far.

President Leslie E. McIntire opened the session by expressing his renewed interest in the objects for which the association was organized and his belief that the members were receiving great benefits from the monthly operations of the dairy-testing methods being regu- larly and faithfully carried on by the agent of the association. One of the most enthusiastic dairymen present came about 10 miles, the first time since he became a member. He keeps 12 cows and lives so far away in Norway it is inconvenient for him to come to the meetings generally.

Prof. Merrill, State Dairy Instructor, being present, introduced the leading subjects of discussion and announced that Prof. Homer Rabild, an expert in dairying from the Dairy Division, Bureau of Animal Industry, U. S. Department of Agriculture, would address the associa- tion on the results of the new departure in practical methods of dairying within a few years past.

Mr. Rabild said he would tell some of his observations and experiences in Den- mark, his native country. He described the conditions of affairs in Denmark be- fore the remarkable improvement in dairy methods began to develop. A few years ago that country was greatly im- impoverished from the effect of a destruc- tive war. The people had no resource for raising money but from the land, which in Denmark is worth from $100 to $1,000 per acre and taxes on the land were as high as $5.00 per acre. A great national debt had to be paid. A bright, progressive man or woman, it is said, conceived the idea of improving the herds of dairy cows by testing them for their cream producing power, and weed- ing out the poor cows, at the same time breeding from the best stock and making a profit in the dairy, where they had in most cases before only paid expenses.

This radical treatment of the dairy herds of Denmark had the most successful result. From 1884, when the average amount of butter per cow in Denmark was 112 pounds per year, in 23 years, or in 1907, the average per cow had in- creased to 224 pounds, a very astonishing outcome of "weeding" of a single person at the beginning. It proved the great merit of scientific methods in breeding, feeding and manipulation of the herds and their milk product. In 13 years the amount of testing associations increased to 512. Denmark, he said, is famous for its cooperation in all its industries. It is at the top of all countries in per capita wealth. Appreciative brief remarks fol- lowed Prof. Rabild's address from Messrs. Skinner, Chas. Hamlin, Eugene Kilgore, Hersey, Hilton, Noble and Pres. McIntire.

Mr. Hilton asked, "What is the best ration for a dairy cow?" Prof. Rabild answered, "Clover-hay, corn fodder and peas and oats."

Prof. Merrill suggested that a meeting be held in East Waterford for the con- venience of members living in that part of the testing-district. On motion of Mr. Kilgore it was voted that the next meeting be held on the first Wednesday of October at East Waterford. Com- mittee to arrange for place of meeting, Messrs. Hilton and Pride.

CURE RHEUMATISM NOW.

This is the Best Time to Get Rid of the Disease.

Of all seasons in the year none is better than the present for the treat- ment and cure of rheumatism. While Neuralgic Anodyne is an unsparing cure for rheumatism at any season of the year, it will do good twice as quickly this month.

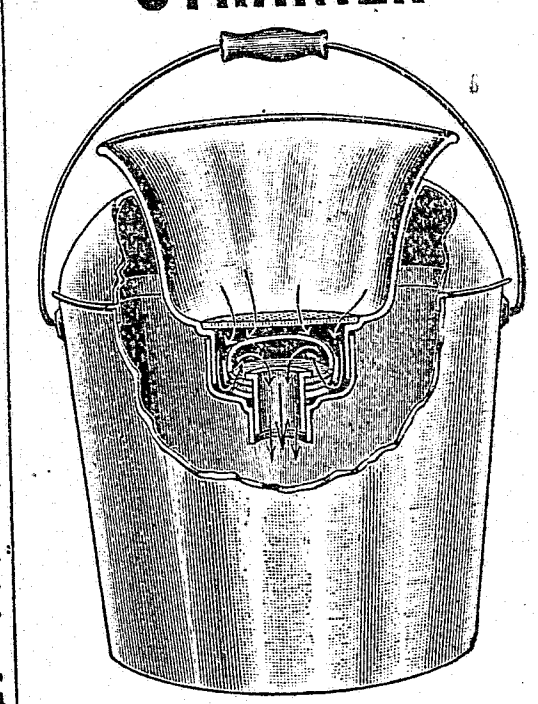

The Anodyne has a peculiar action, soaking through the pores of the skin to the aching tissues and throbbing nerves so that it does far more good than any ordinary local application. At the same time, a small dose is taken internally which soothes and quiets the whole nervous system, and helps expel the Uric Acid from the blood.

Neuralgic Anodyne is so successful in curing rheumatism, neuralgia, head- ache, toothache, and all nervous and muscular pains, that dealers everywhere are authorized to refund the money if it does not do all that is claimed for it.
